Project Management Professional[®] (PMP[®])

A career in project management offers a variety of jobs across industries, incredible growth potential, and excellent compensation. Establish yourself as a globally-recognized project manager by earning the most sought-after credential in the profession with Rice University's exam preparation course.

Project Management Professional (PMP) certification is a proven way to enhance your resume, elevate your career potential, and boost your earnings. Project management is one of the most demanded professions in today's global marketplace with an anticipated 1.57 million new jobs created worldwide each year through 2020.

Eddie Merla, PMI-ACP, PMP[®], is the founder and owner of Duende Project Management Services. He is a PMP[®] preparation instructor and a speaker and trainer on project management and leadership topics. Mr. Merla has more than 25 years of project management experience including seven years experience leading international consulting engagements and projects. He has implemented Project Management Offices for multiple organizations and in seven different industries (banking, airlines, automotive, consulting, information technology, engineering, and healthcare). He has supported the implementation of agile practices in various organizations. Mr. Merla has presented at multiple chapters of the Project Management Institute and at the EMEA PMI Congress, the North American PMI Congress, the Asia Pacific PMI Congress and the Latin America PMI Congress. He has trained project managers and other business professionals in 10 separate countries.

Tony Barreras, PMP, a TAMU graduate in electrical engineering, has more than 25 years of experience training project managers, managing projects, and leading project management organizations in multiple industries including energy, oil & gas, logistics, and IT. He also has experience managing external and internal facing projects, company integrations, ERP system deployments, large projects at a single site, large projects across hundreds of sites, utilizing project teams located throughout the world. Currently, he is primarily responsible for the project management training program at Wood, training 300-400 current and future PMs each month. He regularly consults in the areas of risk management and value engineering.
