

Heart Health: Prevention, Treatments and Innovations

With appropriate lifestyle changes, optimal medical treatments and targeted therapeutic interventions, the prospect for a long and high-quality life with heart disease is excellent. Texas Medical Center experts share the latest clinical and research insights on heart health.

SCHEDULE	Apr. 4–May 2, 2018 Five Wednesdays 7-8:30 p.m.
FEE	$185 $175 if registering by March 21 $167 for Rice alumni
CEUs	0.75
FORMAT	On Campus

Lead Instructor: Hani Jneid, M.D., is an associate professor of medicine at Baylor College of Medicine, the director of interventional cardiology research at Baylor College of Medicine, and the director of interventional cardiology at The Michael E. DeBakey VA Medical Center. He is a nationally-recognized expert in the fields of heart attack and interventional cardiology. Dr. Jneid performs more than 500 cardiac procedures annually and is the author of more than 150 peer-reviewed publications, editorials and textbook chapters. He has also served as the chair and member of several national committees and task forces developing guideline documents and position statements for heart disease.

April 4. "Overview of Heart Health and Disease."

Hani Jneid, M.D.

April 11. "Heart Disease: Causes and Manifestations."

Hani Jneid, M.D.

April 18. "Treating and Preventing Recurrence of Heart Disease."

Hani Jneid, M.D.

April 25. "Lifestyle Interventions and Primary Prevention."

Anita Deswal, M.D., M.P.H., professor of medicine—Winters Center for Heart Failure Research, Baylor College of Medicine; chief, Section of Cardiology and director, Heart Failure Program—The Michael E. DeBakey VA Medical Center. Biykem Bozkurt, M.D., Ph.D., professor of medicine and medical care line executive—The Michael E. DeBakey VA Medical Center; vice-chair, Department of Medicine and associate director of Cardiovascular Research Institute—Baylor College of Medicine; director—Winters Center for Heart Failure Research, Baylor College of Medicine

May 2. "The Future of Heart Health: Innovations in Medical Therapies and Interventions." Christie Ballantyne, M.D., professor of medicine, professor of molecular and human genetics, chief of cardiology and cardiovascular research, J.S. Abercrombie Chair, Atherosclerosis and Lipoprotein Research—Baylor College of Medicine; director, Center for Cardiovascular Disease Prevention—Houston Methodist Hospital DeBakey Heart & Vascular Center. Hani Jneid, M.D.

To register for this class or browse all available courses, visit us at glasscock.rice.edu/personal.